Educational Attainment

The distribution of educational attainment often suggests the amount of disposable income individuals and families may have for leisure programs and activities. Trends in educational attainment suggests that individuals with an Associate’s degree or higher may have disposable income for parks and recreation programs and activities. As noted in Figure 1.8, over 50 percent of Valdosta-Lowndes County residents received an Associate’s degree or higher in 2018. This suggests that Valdosta-Lowndes County residents may have disposable income to enjoy leisure programs and activities.
