

Figure 44. Representative graph of IR versus distance for high speed train, train configuration C-1, and a population density of 11,800 people per square mile. The peak value is located at the route. The IR drops in a parabolic fashion moving perpendicularly away from the route.