

failures. The impact from riverine erosion would affect the unincorporated area of the county and residents that live close by and could potentially cause considerable damage.